DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cushman (US 5,920,911). Cushman discloses a dimensioned apparatus including interface means which is adjacent to the body/ ear region that has a first region of material/membrane (26) having greater compliance than a second region of material (25). Further, both the first and second portions are adjacent with respective parts of the body, col. 3, lines 10-50. In addition, the first region is adjacent and in contact with sensitive areas of the body/ear, while the second region is located adjacent to less sensitive areas as shown in figures 11 and 12. Additionally, the first region of the interface means covers the whole area of the body, while the second region covers only a part thereof as shown in figure 12. Also, both the first and second regions are covered by a protective material defined as an ear cup (10) that is worn over the ear in a conventionally manner, by the first region being adjacent to the temple of the ear and the second region is adjacent to the top of the ear, col. 4, line 1- col. 7, line 58 and as shown in figure 3.
